

Abstract

A pharmaceutical compositions is provided that include oil extract from plants from the Labiatae family. The compositions can be formulated by combining extracts of essential oils from plants of the Labiatae family with a Group I base. The pharmaceutical 5 compositions are formulated for subcutaneous, intradermal, intramuscular or intravenous injection of mammals, including humans.

